Tarn McGrew Host In Paris At Freak Party For Some Queer Personages

"Tarn McGrew is 'going some' in Paris, according to an Associated Press dispatch from the city of France on November 23. Says the dispatch:

"Tarn McGrew of the Franco-American Bank, Place Vendôme and Honolulu, has demonstrated that he is the most accommodating host in Paris by reason of his having entertained six most unsophisticated people from Lyons. McGrew recently inherited a handsome fortune and somewhat previously a lesser one from his wife, formerly Mrs. Scott Grant, sister-in-law of the Countess of Essex. Business took him to Lyons, where he was greatly delighted with the accomplishments of his cab driver. The latter, growing confidential, confided to McGrew that he was about to marry.

"Very well," said the American, "bring your fiancée and friends up to Paris."

"They came, the cab driver in a glazed hat, his fiancée, who was a pretty chambermaid, a garbage collector and his wife who runs a henery, a restaurant waiter and a young dressmaker. Mr. McGrew hired a family automobile and all got into it. 'Now you are my guests,' he said and they were. He showed them all the sights, the music halls, and dined and winned them. A week passed and the cab driver and his fiancée were not married. Finally Mr. McGrew succeeded in suspending the festivities until they went to the Mayor's office and the happy pair were safely married. McGrew is now in a sanitarium recuperating."

RAVAGES AMONG EUCALYPTUS

They might have noticed, Dr. Lyon said in opening, the dead patches in the Tantalus forest. "These trees are dead from the recent drought," they might have said on first sight. But there was no drought in Tantalus, where irrigated trees on the Long estate were also dying. Besides the eucalyptus, the black wattle and cedar trees on Tantalus were dying. As to the black wattle, old age might account for it. Cockroaches attacking the bark and twigs of some of the trees had killed them. A great many young trees at the experiment station had died from this cause.

The eucalyptus trees on Tantalus were not dying from either of these causes, but from a fungus and more of the eucalyptus globulus, than the eucalyptus robusta were being attacked. As the robusta, or swamp gum, favors moist land this fact indicates that another cause than drought is the cause. The disease usually begins at the extremities—sometimes isolated branches, and sometimes one side of a tree will be infected and not the other. Dr. Lyon showed a withered branch from a Tantalus tree. If the disease starts at the top it will work its way down until it enters the trunk.

"Folly To Go On Planting," Dr. Lyon could not say it would be folly to go on planting eucalyptus trees. If they were going to plant them in large groves, they would have to pay more attention to them. There were other trees that would serve their purposes better for forest cover. At all events they should not be planted in pure culture—that is, exclusively on a large scale.

In answer to E. Faxon Bishop, two speaker said the disease was not the same as the dying back disease of rubber and cacao trees, a disease that was causing a great deal of damage in the West Indies.

"What is the remedy?" asked W. O. Smith.

Dr. Lyon said the only remedy was to clean out the dead trees as fast as possible. If they wished to save a few trees they might do it by pruning back the branches and painting over the wound. In a large forest such treatment was impracticable.

In reply to a question by Mr. Smith if the disease spread from centers of infection, Dr. Lyon said the infection was rather scattered. One tree may be attacked at the top, another at the bottom. It the vital parts were first affected the tree would die quickly.

Mr. Bishop asked if the disease had appeared on the other islands also, if it was anything like the chestnut tree disease, to which the lecturer replied.

CONTEMPT OF COURT FOR JESSIE K. KAAL

Unless Jessie Kaal, executrix of the estate of Margaret V. Carter, pays over to M. T. Simonton, circuit court clerk, the sum of $150 before noon December 14, she will be arrested and held by the sheriff for a period of sixty days, or until such time before the expiration of that period as she may pay the amount mentioned. This is the order issued this morning by Circuit Judge Whitney, following the order of Judge Robinson, made on November 5, 1910, requiring her to pay the money to Simonton, who had acted as referee in settling the affairs of the estate.

INJURED AT PEARL HARBOR CONSTRUCTION

One of the few rare accidents taking place at Pearl Harbor where hundreds of workmen are engaged in construction of buildings and drydocks for the new naval station was reported today when the police were asked to take care of Daniel Kupahu, a laborer who had fallen from a height of thirty feet, causing serious internal injuries. The Hawaiian was set to work placing rivets in the framework of one of the structures, when he is said to have lost his balance falling to the stone floor below.

The injured man was taken to the hospital for treatment.

PLANTERS VISIT THEIR SUBSTATION

This afternoon the Sugar Planters' Association went in a body in automobiles to the experiment substation at Waipahu, on the land of the Oahu Sugar Company, where cane-cultivating experiments are conducted on a much larger scale than is possible at main station in town.

Tomorrow morning the association will consider the labor question in executive session. In the afternoon the members will inspect the association and the federal experiment stations. The annual banquet and high jinks will be held at the Pacific Club tomorrow night.

'EARTHQUAKE' IS WIDOW WITH 6 CHILDREN LOSES HER ALL IN FIRE

Another delusion of excited imagination was shattered this morning when the earthquakes reported for several days past with alarming frequency were found not to be of volcanic origin at all. They were earthquakes all right, but the 'quake' thereof is down in the harbor, where an entirely harmless bit of dredging is going on.

All the feverish reports that have poured into the newspaper offices have been caused by this harbor dredging, it appears. Nobody was really excited over the reports, anyway, except some of the superstitious ones who feared that Honolulu might get a black eye if the news went abroad that there were mutterings of the earth here. The earthquake was taken as a joke, but it seems to have been a bigger joke than some people thought.

Inquiry at Waipahu, Wahiawa, Waialua and way points failed to scare up even a scent of the earthquake story, so evidently those visitors who have been sitting up nights waiting for a shock so they could write back home and tell how it felt might as well go to sleep, for nothing is going to happen unless a powderman on "the front" gets unusually extravagant with his giant powder.

TAFT SENDS FREAR'S NAME

FREAR NOT SURPRISED

When informed by the Star-Bulletin this morning of the cable from Washington, announcing the nomination of himself and Mott-Smith, Governor Frear manifested no surprise.

"It is not unexpected," he commented. "It is merely confirmation of my opinion, expressed some time ago. It sets at rest the talk that because he is a redneck President Taft will leave all appointments for the incoming executive to handle."

At the same time it does not place any obstacle in the latter's way after he is in office."

Government officials here is to the effect that there has been and still is a great deal of opposition to the reappointment of Governor Frear in Washington. This opposition, it is reported, is headed by such men as Senator Dixon and Senator Warren, backed up by a number of Democrats. The fight on the Governor is not a personal one at all, say these men, but is based largely on the political aspects of the case. The Democrats hold that it would be a mistake to confirm the appointment of an official for a term of four years, most of which would have to be served under a Democratic administration, and they contend that it is only fair to the incoming President to let him make his own appointments.

This, added to what is reported to be strenuous objections to the reappointment of Mr. Frear from certain quarters in this Territory, it is believed will exercise a deterrent effect upon the senate in considering the nomination, and may result in the holding up of the Governor's name in committee during the entire short session, say the political wise ones here. There are others, however, who feel certain the appointment will be confirmed.

Respectfully submitted, JAMES WAKEFIELD, EMIL BERNDT, Committee

'PHONE DEAL IS HANGING FIRE

Questioned regarding the progress of the reported deal whereby the Mutual Telephone Company, Ltd., was to take over the operation of the lines of the Hilo and Hawaii Telephone & Telegraph Company, Ltd., P. Klamp, president of the Mutual, said this afternoon:

"We have been offered the control of the Hilo company, but no action has yet been taken on the matter." It will be remembered that the Mutual Company, at a special meeting a few weeks ago, decided upon an amendment to its charter so that it could invest its surplus in the stock of other companies.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

A cement sidewalk is in the process of being laid in front of the Rapid Transit Company's property on Alapai street.

The case of Pang Chew vs. William H. Koolaka, involving a petition for the foreclosure of a mortgage by the former against the latter, and which was appealed from the First Circuit court, will be brought up for argument before the supreme court next Friday morning. Lorrin Andrews is the attorney for the plaintiff.

The Pacific Mail liner Persia sailing from Alakea wharf at three o'clock this afternoon, will be given a large accumulation of mail destined for the mainland and to points beyond the United States.

A cottage on Laimi road, Nuuanu Valley, was completely destroyed by fire at eleven o'clock this morning. It is not known how the fire started, and despite the efforts of people living nearby to put it out it had gained such headway before it was discovered that everything in the way of household goods was also destroyed.

The cottage was the property of Mrs. M. C. Oliveira, a widow with six children, and, together with the furniture and other articles, was valued at about $1,300. There was no insurance.

HARBOR WORK

basis of requests for appropriations from the coming legislature, is given below in full:

Your committee appointed to report on the programme of work for the development of wharf facilities in Honolulu, Kahului and Hilo harbors beg to recommend that the first work in Honolulu harbor to press to completion is the Fort Street Bulk Head Wharf; this project involves after the dredging contract is completed, the construction of a wharf in the slip adjoining the Alakea Street Wharf, the construction of a wharf at the foot of Fort Street, the extension seventy-five feet makai of the Oceanic Wharf, and the extension makaua of the Oceanic Wharf to Queen street.

We recommend that this construction be of concrete, and of the most permanent character possible; freight sheds for the accommodation of incoming and outgoing cargoes must be provided, and we would urge that a comprehensive shed plan be arranged for the whole land area involved in this scheme of the Fort Street Bulk Head Wharf.

To complete this work it will be necessary to secure property from the Federal Government, and the Robinson and S. C. Allen Estates, and we would urge that the necessary legal steps be taken to secure the condemnation of these two last mentioned properties.

We further recommend that on the acquisition of the Fee of the Marine Railroad property, a slip be dredged through the center, constructing solid open wharves on each side of the slip, which will afford accommodation for the discharge of lumber and coal cargoes.

We also urge the necessity of reconstructing the "Kinau wharf and wharf shed, the extension of the Brewer wharf shed to the sea-wall, the dredging of the slip Waikiki of the Brewer wharf to the sea-wall line, and the dredging of the inter-island slips to the sea-wall.

We would also urge the need of securing a large appropriation from the Legislature for the repair and maintenance of wharves in Honolulu Harbor. With the increasing volume of traffic over the wharves in this harbor it is an absolute necessity to maintain these structures in the best possible condition to preserve their working efficiency.

We would recommend that a special appropriation be requested from the Legislature to construct the necessary freight sheds on the Hilo wharf, so that this important work can be pressed to completion with as little delay as possible.

Kahuli Harbor is badly in need of a wharf for the accommodation of large steamships and we would urge that plans be prepared for a bulk-head wharf to be built parallel with the breakwater sufficiently long to berth two ocean going steamers and with sufficient shed accommodation for their incoming and out-going cargoes.

Respectfully submitted, JAMES WAKEFIELD, EMIL BERNDT, Committee

OFFICER HAULS WIFE TO COURT

Placing his wife under arrest, upon a charge of unlawful fishing for mullet, a police officer at Waialua goes on record as having kept duty faithfully in the foreground despite whatever sentiment he may have possessed for love and protection of his family fireside.

The wife of the city and county officer now awaits trial by the justice at Waialua court.

Yesterday the woman left her home and in crossing a stream made the startling discovery that in the heavy rains that occurred in the mountains, large volumes of water had washed down and in draining off had driven quantities of mullet into small "pockets" or holes in the bed of the stream.

The wife of the officer with ideas of replenishing the family larder, stopped and gathered a large number of the fish. She returned to Waialua when approached by her husband, was told that the act was an unlawful one, and that she might then and there consider herself under arrest.

The police officer effected the arrest of his wife and she was released on small bail.

Later this same guardian of the peace and welfare of Waialua district got wind of the labors of a number of Japanese who also participated in the harvesting of stranded mullet and before nightfall he had each under bond to appear before the court to stand trial for unlawful fishing.

YOUNG MEN OF FASHION

YOUNG MEN of fastidious ideas, who are the most critical in their dress, prefer "ALFRED BENJAMIN'S" CLOTHES to clothes made to their measure. Many of the best dressed men in town are wearing "BENJAMIN" Clothes. There are many reasons why they are wearing them. Come in and let us tell you a few of the reasons.

Indignant Citizens Hear Sentence Passed On Offender

Cathcart Enters Denial in Court to 'Public Be Damned' Story This Morning

With more than a score of prominent men and women of Honolulu attending the proceedings, Edward McCarrison, a well-known young man of this city, pleaded guilty in Judge Robinson's court this morning to a charge of fornication and was given the limit sentence, a fine of fifty dollars and costs.

The other charge against McCarrison, that of trespass, was dropped, the prosecuting attorney, John W. Cathcart, declaring that under the circumstances surrounding the case no jury in the world would find the prisoner guilty of trespass. Evidence in the case previously taken had brought out statements that the Hawaiian girl with whom McCarrison was guilty of misconduct had communicated with him prior to his coming to the home where she was staying while out on probation from the reform school.

The case this morning was marked not only by the attendance of prominent people and the deep interest taken in the case, but by sharp exchanges of personalities between Attorney Cathcart and Attorney Wade Warren Thayer. An article in the morning paper, stating that Cathcart yesterday had declared, "The public be damned!" in discussing the agreement for McCarrison to plead guilty, was asserted by Cathcart to have been inspired by Thayer. The article in question said that Thayer had asked Cathcart why he, the prosecuting officer, agreed that McCarrison should be allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge. In his address to the court this morning, Cathcart denied three times and with an emphasis, and force that showed his anger, that he had used the words "The public be damned" attributed to him, and he took occasion to fire a few hot shots at Thayer.

While he was stating that the article was untrue and that his inspiration seemed to have been malicious, he said: "I do not see this attorney here today," and Thayer, who was in the room, rose in court and interrupted with "Turn around, Mr. Cathcart, and you'll see him!"

Cathcart then went on to say that Thayer had stopped him yesterday and asked as to the disposition of the case, which he considered was rather improper conduct for an attorney in view of the fact that he, Cathcart, was the public prosecutor in the case. He stated that he did not use the words imputed to him. What he did say was that he prosecutes cases on their merits.

Among those present this morning were many who have taken a prominent part in the present movement to check the prevalence of crime against women and girls. Bishop Restarick, chairman of the big mass meeting last Sunday night, was there an interested listener, as were the Rev. A. A. Ebersole, the Rev. R. E. Smith, R. H. Trent, W. T. Pope,

School Inspector Gibson, W. A. En, W. S. Bowen, W. H. Rice, W. Aiken, L. R. Kilam, Paul Super, C. Atherton, A. E. Larimer, J. A. man, Miss Sadie C. Sterritt, superintendent of the Girls' Industrial school and a number of women prominent in religious, benevolent and social work.
